Search Fails For Girl In Murder Case

Sheriffs Posse Finds No Clues

PRETTY HAIRDRESSER HUNTED

Brother Of Missing Girl Joins Search in Hills of Humboldt

EUREKA, Oct. 14.—Pretty Carmen Wagner, 18 year old hairdresser, sought for questioning in the death of Henry Sweet, Dyerville youth, whose dead body was found by his automobile, is still missing.

The sheriff posse, that had been searching the mountainous country in the vicinity of Dyerville for the past few days, returned empty handed stating that no clues had been found tonight, indicating the fate or whereabouts of the girl or the other man hunted in the case.

Poses of mountaineers continue to search the higher reaches of the hills, where Sweet's automobile was found with his body beside it. The hunt has been joined by Kenneth Wagner, 16-year-old brother of the missing girl.

Young Wagner has with him 'Bobs' a pet hunting dog, that knew his sister well and he is depending upon the dog to find and follow the trail.

Authorities are still working on the theory that Sweet was murdered by the "man with the sombrero" for the purposes of robbery and that the slayer carried the girl away into the hills, where he either murdered her or is holding her captive.

MASONS PLAN BIG BUILDING

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—A twenty-five story Masonic building, housing headquarters for all activities of the fraternity in northern California and excelling any similar structure of its kind in the country, is in contemplation for San Francisco.

Plans for the structure became known today as the 1200 delegates to the Grand Lodge of Masons meeting here in annual convention resumed their deliberations.

The project will be definitely launched tomorrow when committees will be appointed by Grand Master David J. Reese to confer with all Masonic bodies in California to secure their ideas on the erection of the structure.

Richmond Terminal Corporation held Exclusive Right For Handling Freight

This is the first of a series of articles setting forth all the facts about the Richmond Terminal Corporation's monopoly on the city wharf's profitable business.

These articles should be read by every citizen. They will show why the municipal wharf has been a continual loss to the City of Richmond, and why the profits go into the pockets of a corporation.

On June 14, 1919, the Mayor and City Clerk, duly authorized by the council, and on the recommendation of the city manager and city attorney, signed a five year contract.

They signed it with a certain RICHMOND TERMINAL CORPORATION, incorporated, whose general ownership seems, to have always been shrouded in mystery.

This contract GAVE to this corporation, the exclusive privilege of handling all cargo, goods and merchandise in the municipal wharf, wharf shed or warehouse, from warehouse to shipside or from shipside to warehouse or transit shed, with all privilege of stacking, restacking, loading on to cars or from cars, and handling in other ways all goods handled in the wharf.

For this monopoly the Richmond Terminal Corporation was to pay the City of Richmond NOTHING.

Most people of Richmond knew nothing about this contract or lease, and today after six and a half years they still know nothing.

They do not know that the Richmond Terminal Corporation's profitable monopoly has netted them enough, it is said, to build wharf No. 2, if the City of Richmond had received the money.

They do not know that last year this corporation had a gross income nearly three times that of the City from dockage and tolls over the wharf.

They do not know many things that will be told, as these articles proceed.

The question that has been asked for years by many is "Why was this contract made, and why has it been continued in force?" This question will likely be answered before this series of articles are completed.

Who are the owners of the Richmond Terminal Corporation? Few people in Richmond know—and they won't tell.

Many questions will be answered during the next few days.

COUNTY SEAT WITHOUT JAIL

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—Martinez is now following the time honored process of dog catchers. The city jail is now a jail on wheels, thanks to the combined forces of the city firemen.

As an incidental to their monthly meeting last night the firemen hoisted the cumberson jail, consisting of one strong cell, pushed it onto a truck and deposited it in the city corporation yard. For years the cell has rested in the fire house to the great displeasure of the fire fighters.

On many a dark night and gloomy night, they have been wailed from their slumbers to stern reality by some noisy occupant of the cell exercising his vocal chords in song with curses as occasional punctuations, while going through the sobering up process.

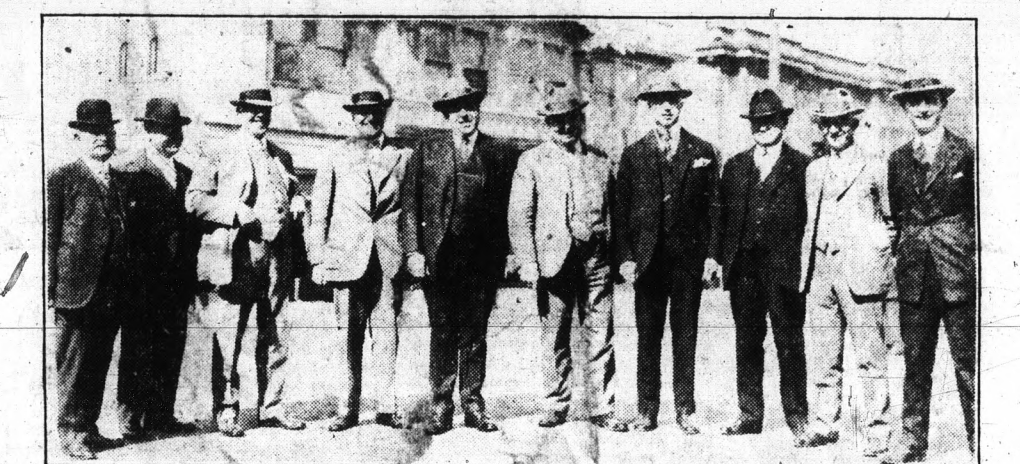

Prison Board Defends Parole

The state prison board of directors defended the parole of Howard Hogan, son of Oakland capitalist, that is to take effect when he completes 18 months of a one to ten year term for manslaughter, because his was a particular case. Complaint was made of the parole by W. L. Williamson, cattleman of Stockton, because of a similar case of a man by the name of John Hogan, who has received no attention from the board.

CHURCH HONORS LINDEMANN'S AT BIG RECEPTION

Approximately 300 guests participated in the warm welcome that was extended to Reverend and Mrs. C. G. Lindemann at the dinner served in the Wesley Methodist church last evening. Mrs. Cal Jenkins, Mrs. W. F. Downer, Mrs. W. J. Glover and Mrs. C. R. Farot gave the welcome to the couple on behalf of the Ladies Aid Society. Mrs. Jenkins presented them with a beautiful wicker basket filled with lavender asters. Flatt Brown represented the official board in their welcome to the couple. Rev. and Mrs. Lindemann both expressed their happiness to be with the church for another year and commended the cooperation and growth of the church in the past year. After the amusing entertainment furnished by Mrs. Alfred Bloomquist the room was favored by musical selections by Mrs. Violet Williams, Miss Agnes Piper, Miss Ruby Williams and W. J. Thompson. The dinner was served by the Ladies Aid Society of the Church.

Woman In Traffic Case Admits That She Is to Blame

Charges against Traffic Officer C. H. Barquist of Martinez made by Mary E. Wilson, who claimed to be principal of Miss Head's school for girls in Berkeley, have been dropped. Miss Wilson was given a citation by Barquist during a Walnut Creek headlight raid and complained to Governor Richardson, Justice Geo. Duncan, Walnut Creek and Chief Vollmer of Berkeley of his action. Miss Wilson has not been at Miss Head's for several weeks and could not be located at the address she gave.

MRS. ROSS IS GIVEN DIVORCE

MARTINEZ, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Cora Ross, wife of E. E. Rose, wealthy local contractor, was granted a divorce decree today by Superior Judge A. B. McKenzie. The complaint of Mrs. Rose asserted that Rose has held numerous clandestine meetings with Mrs. Besie Grant, wife of Ex-Senator Edwin Grant of Oakland, and had confessed his love for her. Mrs. Rose suit was filed only a week after that of Grant's in which he named Rose as a correspondent.

Mrs. Rose over the protest of her attorneys, T. J. Johnston and H. B. Bishop, did not incorporate any request for maintenance of her three children in the divorce complaint. However, Judge McKenzie declared he did not care to grant a divorce without provision for the children and ordered Rose to pay $75 per month for their support.

American Legion Changes Contract For Carnival Here

Successful efforts to change the contract between the American Legion and the Foley and Burke carnival company, to meet the requirements of a city ordinance, were made yesterday, when a conference was held between a committee of the Legion and H. A. Chapman of the Carnival company.

The show will be employed by the Legion for the celebration during Armistice week, November 9 to 14, during which time the Legion will raise funds for its endowment of $2,000,000. A meeting will be held at Memorial hall tonight at which the actual signing of the contract will take place.

The contract change became necessary when the city council refused to alter its position regarding the $150 daily license fee charged traveling carnivals. As this show will be run by the Legion itself and will be staged for charitable purposes, the prohibitory license fee will be avoided.

Under the agreement all supplies are to be purchased locally during the carnival and the company housed locally during the stay. The show now has the backing of the city officials, as the council indicated that if the contract could be changed as to come within the charity show ordinance requirements, the proposition would receive support.

Practurians to Have Big Social

At the meeting of the Modern Order of Practurians, held in Pythian castle last night, it was decided that on October 29, the annual "pie" and general social would be held in Pythian castle. The committee in charge consists of Mrs. P. Rose, Mrs. Lella Osborne and Mrs. E. H. Stratton.

Sublime Augustus Bert Osborne was the presiding officer at the meeting at which regular business was transacted.

HEALTH BOARD HAS SMALLPOX UNDER CONTROL

With two thirds of the children in the school vaccinated and no new cases breaking out within the past 24 hours, authorities believe that the smallpox cases in Richmond which threatened to become an epidemic are under control.

Sixty students of Roosevelt Junior High school were vaccinated at the Richmond Health center yesterday while 250 more were taken care of by private doctors. Seven hundred of the students are back in school and it is expected that the remaining three hundred will be again vaccinated by Friday. Today between 9 and 10 a. m. free vaccination will be administered to the students at the health center.

Elementary schools are not to re-report for vaccination until notified. Miss Nora Ashfield, assistant superintendent of schools announced yesterday.

Knights Templar Have Inspection

The annual inspection of the Richmond commandery, Knights Templar, was held in Masonic hall last night. A banquet was served at 6:30 o'clock and this end of the evening's activities were followed by the session in the lodge room. Eminent Commander W. F. Fraser was the presiding officer for the local lodge.

County Eleventh On Income Returns

The treasury department at Washington ranks Contra Costa county in eleventh place among the counties of California, in the filing of income tax returns in a set of figures compiled recently. Residents in this county filed 7,515 tax reports. Of the number 7,326 showed incomes of less than $5,000 a year, while 149 showed incomes of $5,000 to $10,000, and 40 showed incomes of $10,000 and over.

CONSTRUCTION OF NEW HOTEL STARTS HERE

Spirit of Optimism Prevails At Groundbreaking Of Community Hotel

With city officials from the surrounding cities and representative hotel men of the state in attendance, groundbreaking exercises were held yesterday noon at Tenth and Nevins streets, where the new Richmond Municipal Hotel is being erected. The hotel which is to be five stories high will contain seventy-five rooms.

OPTIMISM SHOWN

From the time the Richmond Union high school band opened the exercises with a snappy march, until E. M. Downer brought them to a close by taking up the first shovel-full of dirt, a spirit of optimism and cooperation was manifested, which is without equal in the annals of the city.

JOHNSTON PRESIDES

H. A. Johnston, president of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce, which is directly responsible for the construction of the hotel here acted as chairman during the exercises.

TOY SPEAKS

Harvey M. Toy, chairman of the State Highway commission, was the principal speaker of the day and forecast an area of prosperity not only for the new hotel, but Richmond as a whole. The hotel, he pointed out, was that outward sign on the part of the citizens of Richmond, that they welcomed those visitors who come to the city. It will also attract many to the city, who under ordinary conditions, without the hotel would find no incentive to remain here overnight, he stated.

He described Richmond as the city which could truthfully boast of the "place where rail and water meet."

HAMILTON LAUDS BOARD

Charles B. Hamilton, lessee of the hotel, complimented the hotel company and its directors upon the clean and campaign and plans which they had carried to a successful conclusion. He stated that he had kept an eagle eye on all transactions regarding the hotel and that not a single dollar had been wasted, lost or misappropriated.

EASTBAY OFFICIALS ATTEND

Mayor Frank D. Stringham of Berkeley, E. C. Lyons, president of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce; City Manager John N. Eady of Berkeley; P. A. Young, president of the California Hotel Association and W. C. Chamberlain, president of the Greeters of California, were among the out of town visitors who attended the ceremonies. They were unanimous in their praise of those backing the hotel and the six hundred stock holders, who had made the hotel a successful venture.

SCOTT WELCOMES VISITORS

Mayor W. W. Scott, the first speaker on the program welcomed the visitors to Richmond and declared the hotel project to be one of the most forward steps which has been taken by Richmond in some time.

J. F. Brooks, manager of the Standard Oil refineries in California extended his congratulations to the citizens of Richmond in their progressive move for the new hotel.

James Plachek, architect, who drew the plans and specifications for the new hotel, was introduced at the ceremony. J. F. Barrett of Barrett and Hill, the contractors, who will build the hotel, pointed out that the structure will be absolutely fireproof of reinforced concrete and metal lath with facing for the doors and windows, the only wood in the structure.

John Giersen, local contractor and successful bidder for the heating was also introduced.

Downer concluded the exercises, when he scooped up the first shovel of ground and dropped it into a truck with the steamshovel which is now on the job doing the excavation.

Following the exercises at the site of the hotel a luncheon was served at the Berkeley Country club. During the luncheon, Charles B. Hamilton, as spokesman, on behalf of the Executive committee of the Hotel Drive, presented Johnston with a loving cup, in appreciation of his untiring efforts during the hotel campaign.

While it is still possible to drive "Red Bluff to Eureka via Forty-nine," it is advisable to take chains, as practically all of this stretch is dirt, according to the National Automobile Club. This, in conjunction with the narrowness and steepness of the road, makes the above trip inadvisable during or immediately following rains.

Misdirected Efforts Are Held Cause

Fifteen Year Old Youth Is Defended by Mother For Shooting Officer

DETECTIVE HAS A CHANCE
Youth States He Is Sorry And Hopes That Officer Will Recover

(By Universal Service)

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—"A misdirected genius—a budding artist. A child burning with the fierce fire of creative effort. A 15-year-old whose emotions exploded and led him into weird ways. This time to prison."

Mrs. Charlotte Kibbee so defended her only son, who yesterday shot and critically wounded Detective Sergeant Augustus Tompkins. She admitted that she had taken him before the juvenile court a year ago for playing truant from school.

"But he is a good boy—it's his effort to express himself, his wild, fantastic dreams, that is at the base of his trouble. As horrible as is his predicament now, the shock will be good for him. It will bring him down to earth, out of the clouds!"

Mrs. Kibbee, widowed mother of three other children, all girls under 16, seemed dazed as she wandered through her home at 577 Ulloa street yesterday afternoon. She picked up her boy's fanciful sketches, his carvings, paintings.

"Here is the 'Tales of Shakespear' by Charles and Mary Lamb, that he had been reading. And his 'Treasure Island.' But mostly he read history, and his sketches were drawn from his imaginings of pirates on the Spanish Main and romantic stories of adventure."

Recently the boy made a radio set that fitted inside of a penny matchbox. And it worked perfectly, his mother related. His pen and ink drawings showed the traces of incipient genius, lines, shadows and cadences of a trained artist.

"He is trying to find himself," Mrs. Kibbee continued. "His pent up emotions exploded into weird drawings. If only someone could direct his genius! I have tried to help him, but I can't. I must work. He is not bad nor vicious. He shot the policeman, but it was an emotional explosion on the spur of the moment. It was an inspiration—just as truly as the inspiration that takes the form of one of sketches."

Mrs. Kibbee visited the boy in city prison last night, and retained Attorney Joseph McShane to defend him.

"Sure, I shot him! It wasn't any accident," I meant to shoot him!"

Quite defiant, and swearing like a "trooper," 15-year-old James Kibbee sat back in his cell down at the city prison yesterday and tells, calmly enough, how he shot Detective Tompkins.

"I had the gun, see? And so when he asks me for it, I just pull it out and shoot him. I knew what I was doing, see? I just felt mean, so I let him have it. No, I don't expect to get away; that isn't why I shot him. I just felt mean, that's all!"

"Oh, yeah," I'm sorry now. But that's the old story—sorry too late—after it's all over. It ain't that I'm sorry about being here, in prison. I'm sorry for the cop I shot. He's got a wife and kids—he told me after I shot him. He just looked at me and said, 'I've got a wife and children at home.'"

"I saw him at the hospital, too, when they brought me there so he could identify me as the guy that shot him. And he looked at me so terrible . . ."

"No—it ain't being in this prison that I'm sorry about now. I just want him to live, that's all. I'd stay here a million years, if that'd save his life."

HIGHWAY WORK IS PROGRESSING

All equipment used in grading and widening the highway from San Pablo to Pinole, has been moved from Pinole and will hereafter work from the Rodeo headquarters. Widening contracts extend from the Franklin canyon intersection to the bridge site at Concord. It is planned to cut down the points of many hills and straighten out sharp turns. About 200 carloads of gravel and paving material will be used.

A NEW NATIONAL ROAD SYSTEM

The recent action of the interstate highway board in designating a national system of roads covering the United States and touching every state capital is a reminder, that an even more ambitious project is being considered. The Pan-American road congress, which is to meet in Buenos Aires October 3 at the invitation of the Argentine government, has for one of its objects the construction of a Pan-American highway which will unite the countries that compose the Pan-American union. The United States and a score of other American republics will have representatives at the meeting.

These plans for highway systems connecting points thousands of miles distant direct attention to the long journeys that are now taken in automobiles. It has become a commonplace matter for motorists to cross the United States. The network of roads mapped out at the Washington meeting provides eight transcontinental routes from the Atlantic coast to the Pacific and nine from the Gulf of Mexico to Canada. Even in the Old World, where progress in road building is far behind that in America, long automobile journeys are being taken, one of the current magazines, for example, describing a motor trip from western Europe to India.

The Washington committee did well in arranging to mark the interstate routes designated with uniform signs. Some private associations of highway promoters have done this in the case of such interstate roads as the Lincoln highway and the Susquehanna Trail, and it has served a good purpose, guiding motorists through towns and past intersections and making it unnecessary to stop and inquire directions.

The plans prepared at Washington will not be carried into effect, of course, for some time. It is not to be imagined that in a few months there will be eight unbroken ribbons of pavement extending from coast to coast. Not even the Lincoln highway has been paved in its entirety, although it has been a well-traveled transcontinental route for a number of years.

Only a program has been prepared by the interstate highway board, but in its adoption a step forward has been taken in the facilitation of long distance motor travel.

FILIPINOS

The recent statement by General Leonard Wood that "if we get out of the Philippines somebody else will step in" explains why the Filipinos do not sincerely wish to be turned adrift by the United States.

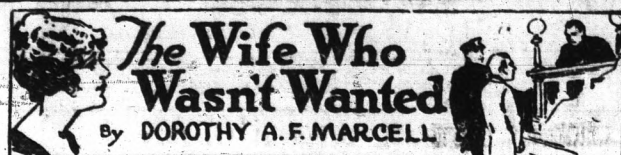

It is the habit in some circles to regard the people of the archipelago as fired with the same passion for freedom that blazed in the breasts of the American colonials in 1776, but the fact is that agitation looking toward separation from the United States is confined almost wholly to a little group of native politicians. The mass of the Filipinos care nothing at all about it.

We might turn the Philippines over to the native population, but in doing so we should not labor under the deception that we are thereby establishing democracy. We would not set up a democracy, but a dictatorship, or at least an oligarchy.

Bereft of the protecting arm of American institutions, the Filipinos would soon become the prey of the exploiting overlords. Civil war would quickly district the land and economic ruin take the place of all those measures of personal betterment and increased material welfare the United States has fostered for more than twenty years.

The United States has vast commercial interests in the Philippines, but it has interest greater still in maintaining an equilibrium in the Far East.

Our national interests as well as those of the Filipinos compel us to stay.

The Wife Who Wasn't Wanted
By DOROTHY A. F. MARCELL

Copyright, 1925, Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.
"THE WIFE WHO WASN'T WANTED" with Irene Rich is a pictureization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

John Manning, district attorney, has just learned by telephone that his wife, Eileen, was seen in a notorious place when it was raided. Then comes word that Eileen is now in the apartment of Jerome Wallace, his opponent in the approaching election. Mrs. Manning has gone there to demand from Wallace a written pledge that, if elected, he will release young Bob Manning, accused of causing the death of a woman in an automobile smash.

As he turned to the table and produced paper and pen she paused at his elbow watching his movements eagerly.

But even as the pen touched the paper he hesitated, waited deliberately, as if with calculating cruelty wishing to play upon Eileen's overwrought nerves. Suddenly a great tenderness seized him, he reached for her hand and drew her towards him.

"Eileen," he murmured softly. Horrified, she pulled away. He leaned closer, his manner insistent and all pretense cast aside. She recoiled from him, her scorn of him plain.

His jaw set and with a glint of anger in his eyes, he laid the pen aside. Eileen watched him aghast. She had lost—Bob had lost—ah, yes, and John had lost.

"Please, please," she pleaded, growing hysterical again. "Why should I trouble? If you can be unkind so can I." "I shall tell my husband," she cried frantically.

Wallace laughed.

Wallace pressed warm kisses on her hair.

"I shall tell the newspaper—the world—everyone—how you have tricked me."

He looked her steadily in the eye. "I shall deny it, say that you did it of your own volition."

She received his answer with the utmost contempt.

"Who would believe you? What possible motive would I have for doing it?"

"My love," he retorted, and more deliberately than his meaning might sink home, "My dear, you loved me enough to betray your husband so that I could win the election."

She laughed scornfully, but it was uncertain before his calmness. "Why," he went on, "you haven't even been so kind as to furnish me your address."

From the table drawer he drew forth a picture. There was the old mat bearing the inscription, "To Jerry dearest—success and all my love, Eileen."

But now in place of her girlhood portrait appeared her latest picture, the one she had sent him that very morning.

"You see, I hold all the trump," said Wallace with a note of triumph. "But if you had not tried to drive me I would have given you that statement."

She seemed to find a ray of hope in his tones, for her sobbing lessened.

Her tears ceased to flow and as she busied herself with her vanity case she even managed a shy half friendly smile.

Suspicious of the sudden change in her, he watched her. As she gazed down at the picture on the table, clearly at a loss to account for the presence of her writing there, he never took his eyes off her.

Finally, satisfied, he produced the old print he had replaced on the mat and laid it before her. Understanding leaped into her eyes and with it something more.

"So you have kept that picture all these years, have you?" she said, regarding him thoughtfully. "I never realized that you cared—that much."

Suddenly with flaming eyes he caught her by the arms and drew her towards him.

"I've always cared. I always will," he breathed huskily. "Jerry," she whispered.

Yet, assured now of his triumph, Wallace pressed warm kisses on her hair. But always when he sought her lips she evaded him, to finally pull away with a tremulous little laugh.

"And to think I ever doubted you, Jerry."

He eyed her eagerly and, still clinging to her hand, drew her to his side.

Beside the table she playfully opened the drawer took out some paper and placed it before him.

She had overplayed her game. Suspicion leaped into his eyes. "Please, Jerry," she whispered softly.

He frowned, then turned impatiently from her.

She could have cried aloud with vexation. But it was all for Bob; she must not give up. Now, she was at Wallace's side, her hand upon his shoulder, and when she spoke there was injury in her tones.

"Now that we have found each other, don't fall me, dear. Let me believe in you."

Indifference held him, but after a moment he reached forth and touched her hair, and it was as if he fell anew under the spell of her.

"And you care enough to leave Manning and come to me?"

What a question. It made Eileen pause. How far dared she go with this man? Then came the memory of Bob. She nodded her head.

With a sharp intake of breath he gathered her hungrily into his arms, but gently she drew away from him.

"You don't trust me, Jerry, and without trust there is no love."

"I'll prove it to you," he exclaimed, and would have embraced her anew. But resolutely she shook her head. Then, without another word, he turned to the table and reached for his pen.

Yet, even as he did so, even as Eileen waited there beside him with her hand upon his shoulder, there came a sound from the hallway. Headless of the Japanese servant's protests, John Manning was approaching.

"A trap," muttered Wallace, casting the pen aside and leaping to his feet.

And in that instant Eileen saw all her planning come to grief, and in her woe turned to the man she loved.

"John!" she cried hysterically. "John!"

He paused in the doorway adjusting himself to what he saw. It was true, then, Eileen was with Wallace.

Now, thrusting the Japanese servant aside, he strode into the room.

With a cry, Eileen rushed to her husband's side and mechanically his arm enfolded her, but his eyes were upon Wallace, who waited on the defensive. For a minute John paused as if expecting some explanation. Then, he looked down at Eileen and spoke in a strident, toneless voice.

"Dryden of the Star just called me on the telephone—something about your being in a raid on a road house."

She looked up at him. "You know, then."

Ah, she did not even deny it. John's arm dropped from about her and horror crept into his eyes. "I had to do it, John, I had to do it so that he would be elected," she protested wildly.

John gasped, and his eyes smoldering with a mighty passion shifted to Wallace, standing with a cynical smile upon his face.

Her terror increased by the attitude of the two men, Eileen fairly beat her hands together in a perfect frenzy lest her husband might not understand.

"I had to do it, John, can't you understand? I just had to do it for him."

But John, almost throwing her out of his way, strode over to the table. Picking the picture up, he stared at it for a moment as if he could not believe his own eyes. Then, with a terrible cry, he crumpled it in his hands. As Eileen clutched at him with inarticulate explanations, he turned on her, his voice hoarse and choked.

WISE AND OTHERWISE

THE ART OF GOOD PASTRY

THERE is no reason in the world why any cook that wishes to should not be able to make delicious pastry. There is an art in doing it, of course, but it is an art that anybody can master.

To begin with, the really good pastry cook is light-fingered and quick. She must learn to be dexterous and decided in her work.

Next of importance are good materials to work with and good implements. It is a matter of opinion, of course, which materials are best. As for implements, a marble slab is always helpful. Ice cold water is essential. You can, if you wish, use instead of a rolling pin a symmetrical round bottle filled with cracked ice and securely corked.

Lemon Cream Cake

Graham Muffins: Mix one cupful of flour, one cupful of graham flour, two tablespoonfuls of sugar, three and one-half teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-half teaspoonful of salt and two tablespoonfuls of butter or clarified fat, melted. Add one cupful of milk and one egg beaten separately. Half fill buttered muffin pans and bake twenty-five minutes in a hot oven.

Oyster Fritters: 12 large oysters, 6 tablespoonfuls flour, 1-4 of a pint of tepid water, 1 tablespoonful of melted butter, the whites of 2 eggs, salt and frying fat. Make a batter by stirring the water and melted butter gradually into the flour; when perfectly smooth add the salt, and lastly the stiffly-whisked whites of eggs. Boil the oysters, dip them in the batter, and fry them in hot fat until they acquire a golden brown color.

Potato Puff: Add to two cupfuls of hot mashed potatoes, two tablespoonfuls of butter, two well-beaten eggs, one-half cupful of milk, salt and pepper to taste. Put in a deep buttered baking dish, and bake twenty minutes in hot oven.

Where It Started

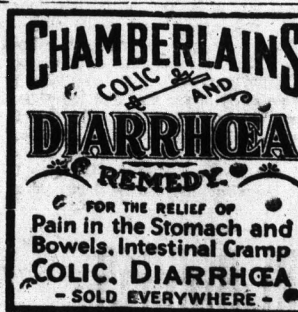

"THAT'S THE CHEESE"

To say that something is "the cheese" means that it is the right thing, the correct procedure; briefly that it is all right. The word "cheese" here has nothing to do with real cheese; it is derived from the Bengali "chiz", pronounced cheese and meaning simply "thing." Thus "That's the Cheese" means "simply 'That's the thing!'"

"NOT SO LONG AGO" PLEASING AT CALIFORNIA

In "Not So Long Ago," the feature at the California theatre for the last time tonight, Sidney Olcott has a real successor to his "Little Old New York." The story is a screen version of Arthur Richman's Broadway stage success by Violet Clark. Betty Bronson, as "Peter Pan," and Ricardo Cortez are featured in the cast.

The scene is New York City in 1850. Miss Bronson, as Betty Dover, the joyous heroine of this quaint comedy, is the romantic young daughter of a struggling inventor.

"Not So Long Ago," is a whole-some comedy with amusing situations and delicate humor artistically presented.

Many of the big laughs in the production are furnished by the "horseless carriage" on which Betty's father is working. There's a unique race scene brought about when the blowy Sam Robinson says he can beat the thing on foot. Fifth avenue of seventy-five years ago is the race course.

Laurance Wheat is cast in the role of Sam Robinson. Dan Crimmins plays Betty's inventive dad, and Julia Swayne Gordon is Mrs. Ballard. Others include Jacqueline Gadsden and Edwards Davis, a money-lender who hopes to come into possession of the horseless carriage when old man Dover can't pay off his note on time. But he gets fooled.

Other features include "Kivalina of the Ice Lands," picturing life with the Eskimo, filmed in the Arctic wonderlands. "International News," Larry Canelo, at the organ.

Colleen Moore Is Starred In Richmond Film

There are some delightful touches of unusual comedy in Colleen Moore's new picture, "So Big," now at the Richmond theatre.

Edna Ferber, the novelist, who wrote the story, laid the scenes in the old Dutch colony which settled near Chicago in the latter quarter of the last century, and, through the antics of the stolid old Dutch types, has injected a great quantity of humor into an otherwise serious drama.

Included in the cast is Wallace Beery, who, in the role of an old Dutch farmer, has no use for laundries.

Also there is Phyllis Haver, of Keystone comedy fame. She plays the role of a vampire of 1890. Ford Sterling is even funnier as a Dutch farm hand. More fun is added by Don Farley, as a small town gossip.

Other screen favorites in the cast are John Bowers, Ben Lyons, Jean Hersholt, Sam de Grasse, Gladys Brockwell, and Rosemary Theby. Other features on the same program include "Call a Cop," a comedy riot of laughter; "Prizma" the screen magazine.

The Ice Lands, picturing life with the Eskimo, filmed in the Arctic wonderlands. "International News," Larry Canelo, at the organ.

"Captain Blood" Is Slated For Church Program

In reviewing the picture, "Captain Blood," Carl Sandburg has the following to say:

"The widely read tale of the romantic pirate, Captain Peter Blood, is having its first screen presentation to packed houses at the Orpheum theatre this week."

"The producers have taken the popular narrative of Rafael Sabatini, and with J. Warren Kerrigan playing Captain Blood, and Jean Paige as Anabella Bishop, they have captured just about all the chivalry, combat, blood and thunder of the times of James, Rex, of England, Scotland and Ireland, as told in the book."

"While some of us would say that Warren Kerrigan sometimes overplays, and is to sweet and pretty debonaire, we might incline on the other hand to say that Jean Paige gives us one of the most believable ladies of the medieval days that has been registered on the silver sheet."

This picture is the feature at the "Family Night" program of Wesley Methodist church, Friday evening, October, 15.

Story Hour Is Well Attended

Over fifty children between the ages of 5 and 12 years were in attendance at the story hour yesterday afternoon at the First Presbyterian church. Mrs. Earl W. The gathering will later be organized into a club to promote friendliness toward all races. Hot chocolate and water were served the little guests on their arrival at the church.

A Bright Reflection

OUR 'PROUD REPUTATION'

That the Purity Creamery of Richmond is one of the best conducted and most sanitary plants in the state was the opinion of speakers who sponsored the new milk ordinance before the city council.

Dr. Blake and others spoke in high terms about the local creamery which is said to have passed all state inspections with high scores under the pure food act. It has always merited the very best reports, it was said.

If you want your mirror to give you a bright and happy reflection each morning, your best course is to order a plentiful and regular supply of our delicious, nourishing milk.

Drinking pure milk regularly gives one a natural, healthful tinge far superior to any rouge.

Do Unto Others--

Paying your bills promptly is one of the best ways to follow the Golden Rule.

First -- in fairness to the merchant or professional man who has invested cash and time in the merchandise or service you have received, you should reciprocate the favor of credit by taking care of your obligations in reasonable time.

Your merchant or professional man does not require security. He demands no interest --- yet he is actually loaning you cash.

Second -- in fairness to your own good name and reputation, your bills should be paid on time.

You are granted credit according to your past record. Your character is the basis for confidence in your ability to pay.

Do your part. Pay your bills promptly. If you can't pay all at once, pay half or whatever you can and see to it that your creditor knows you are playing the game square.

That's one way we can all add to the good name of Richmond.

A grass fire, the second to occur within a week in this locality, broke out yesterday at the corner of Essex and Crichton avenues, in the vicinity of the Pacific Sanitary Manufacturing company plant. Chemical No. 1 responded to the alarm. The first fire at this corner was on October 9.

SEVENTH GAME OF BIG SERIES IS POSTPONED

By DAMON RUNYON
Universal Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 14.—After missing two games on rain since the World's Series in 1925 began, the Pittsburgh weather umpire finally called one today, and the seventh and deciding game of the series had to be postponed until tomorrow.

Some 30,000 customers were assembled at Forbes Field and the Washington battery and been announced. Walter Johnson to pitch, and "Muddy" Ruel to catch, when the rain that had been promised by the weather man came on.

At 2:30, with everybody fairly well soaked, Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis, the supreme court of baseball, handed down a decision to the four umpires, Messrs. Rigler, Owens, Moriarty and McCormick, that the game was off.

Bill McKechnie, the Pittsburgh manager, had not confided his battery to the public, but it was understood that "Vic" Aldridge, winner of two games in the series, would oppose the mighty Johnson. There were rumors that McKechnie might take a chance with Red Oldham, a left-hander. It seems improbable, however, that McKechnie would go to gambling in pitching stock on the deciding game when he had a two-time winner available.

The postponement is in a way advantageous to both clubs. It will give both Johnson and Aldridge an additional day to rest, which is probably of more value to the veteran of the Washington club than it is to the younger Pirate, especially as Johnson is troubled with a bad knee. Incurred in the third inning of the Sunday game.

CORRUTHERS IS PROVING TO BE A GOOD CENTER

Those fans of Richmond who have seen the Olympic club football team play this year or those who will see it play in the future are secure in the knowledge that the position of center is being filled and filled well by Tom "Sailor" Corruthers, of the barrel house department of the Standard Oil company.

Sailor became widely and favorably known in this city when he held down the position of first base for the Mechanics in the Standard Oil baseball league.

He got his experience and incidentally his title of "Sailor" when he was with the navy in San Francisco. He played center for a number of years for Uncle Sam sailors and after receiving his discharge he joined the Olympic club and the forces of Babe Hollingbery. He showed what he was good for as the backbone of the club line last Saturday when the dashing Bruins failed to penetrate his neck of the woods while the backs of his team made substantial gains through center time and again.

Richmond now boasts of two stars in the Pacific Coast football field. Besides Sailor Corruthers there is Fred Swan, left guard of the Stanford cardinals. Swan tips the scale at 185 and is a good all-around man. He has no particular fault and is an efficient and far better than the ordinary guard.

Sportographs

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14.—A record that has stood for 20 years has been broken by Roger Peckinpaugh, most valuable player in the Americans. In the 1905 World Series, Hans Wagner, one of the greatest infielders that ever donned a glove, bungled six times in the eight games. Peck has made his sixth glaring errors in the present series. Misery loves company, so now Hans is roaming about with a smile of satisfaction on his wrinkled visage.

WILLS MEETS JOHNSON

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Floyd Johnson, an also-ran for the championship of the heavies, of Iowa, has been selected by Manager Culnan to go ten rounds with Harry Wills, in Newark on the night of October 24. This will be Harry's last engagement before the big strong man lays off to rest up for his half-hour's work a year from now.

DUCKY MAY STAR

An unique record was claimed by Ducky Grant of the Saints last Saturday, when he scored a touchdown on six quarterback sneaks, coming one after the other. Nothing seemed able to stop him. In view of this fact and with his other widely known abilities Ducky can be looked upon to do quite a bit toward showing up the Bears Saturday. Grant looks just as good at quarter as he does in his regular position at half.

IN MEXICO NATIONALS

None tennis players numbered among San Francisco's finest will leave Saturday for Mexico City, where they will compete for the championship of that country. The party will be the guests of the southern republic during the time of the tourney. William M. Johnston, runner-up in the American championship will head the party.

VAUGHN WINS SWEEP STAKE

Ira Vaughn, a greatly improved golfer, won the weekly sweep stake at the Carquinez Golf club course.

He turned in a net score of 65. Vaughn has improved his game by 20 strokes within the past few weeks. J. F. O'Connor took second prize with a net of 68; J. Turner took third with 71 while C. D. Hero and H. Robinson were tied for fourth with net scores of 72.

The Best Insurance

The savings account is a form of insurance that a young man can not afford to be without—because he DOESN'T HAVE TO DIE TO WIN.

It is strictly a business proposition and the sooner a young man starts the better it will be for him. It is a barometer of self-respect, and has more than its actual money value, for it gives a man credit, confidence and stability. We invite such accounts.

A word of APPRECIATION

THIRTEEN letters all told have been received by Key System in response to our advertisement asking for suggestions and criticisms.

Most of the suggestions made were valuable. These are being considered in connection with the Seven Million Dollar development program detailed in the current issue of Key System News, now in all racks on our trains and ferryboats. We are grateful for the suggestions themselves and for the helpful spirit that prompted them.

We also are grateful for the fair and interested attitude of the public during the recent Railroad Commission hearing in Oakland. Salient facts of this hearing, reported more fully in Key System News, include the following:

- 1—This company is not now earning enough money to keep up the service it is now rendering.
- 2—No additional revenue has come from an investment of nearly $3,000,000 in Eastbay service and more than $2,500,000 in transbay service since 1920.
- 3—A rate readjustment will provide a proper return upon the value of our property and enable us to continue the development of the present transportation service to keep pace with the growth of our Eastbay communities. We know the new rates of fare will compare more than favorably with similar rates throughout the country.

Read the large report of the hearing, in Key System News. It will interest you. We will gladly mail a copy on request.

NO. COMPANY'S NOT COMING

If you drop a dish cloth, company won't come, save as a matter of coincidence. Popular superstitions like this are losing ground; so is the superstition that there is something mysteriously better about "eastern" motor lubricants, merely because they cost more and are made in the east.

The Right Way to Judge Motor Oils

More than ever, motorists are discovering that the test of an oil is not where but how it is made, and how it lubricates. That's why Zerolene—refined from selected western naphthenic base crudes—is today successfully lubricating more cars in the Pacific Coast states than any other oil made.

An Exclusive Process—What it Does

Lubricating qualities have never been more carefully or successfully preserved than by the processes used at Standard Oil Company refineries for the refining of Zerolene—the Zerolene high-vacuum process, the Zerolene process of filtration through 40 tons of Florida Fuller's Earth, the refineries' 15 positive checks for quality!

What Zerolene Will Do For Your Car

Zerolene will give your car better lubrication: it increases the gasoline mileage, reduces carbon-removal and maintenance costs and lengthens the life of any engine in which it is used. Why pay tribute to a superstition? Insist on Zerolene. Always ask for Zerolene by name.

Get the Facts!

A series of independent and impartial reports showing the experience of large users with Zerolene motor oil has been collected in our booklet, "Why Pay Tribute to a Superstition?" Ask any Standard Oil Company representative or Zerolene dealer for a copy.

Insist on Zerolene—even if it does cost less

SAND HILL WELL MAY CUT COST ON ROAD WORK

The desert is not always as dry as it seems; that is, underneath. This has been proved by the California Highway Commission which has just completed the drilling of a well in Open Valley, a small depression in the famous Imperial County sand hills, which are crossed by the interstate highway connecting California and Arizona by the Yuma route.

Water was struck at 92 feet and the drilling continued to hard pan which was struck at a depth of 153 feet. A pump was installed and the test made. For six days of continuous pumping the flow averaged approximately 500 gallons per minute and created a sensation throughout the district. Tourists crossing into California stopped to marvel at the six inch stream of water rushing forth from the desert sands, when all about the country is as bleak and barren as the Sahara.

Needed For Pavement

The highway commission is planning to construct a pavement across the San Hills to take the place of the present plank road, which is badly in need of replacement, and this is the answer to questions about the well. The pavement may take the form of present concrete slabs, mixed and cured at some central point and hauled to their proper place along the route, where they will be fitted together into a wide, smooth roadway. Looking forward to probable shifting of the dunes the commission's engineers hope to work out a pavement that possibly may be moved from one location to another, should the necessity arise.

The imperative need for an adequate water supply in connection with the mixing of the concrete was the reason the commission began prospecting for water. It was realized that the water hazard was great, and that contractors would take this into consideration in bidding. If the new well can furnish

Breaks Leg Trying Charleston Dance

The cause of the crash of a Boston dance hall, killing a score of dancers, has caused Mrs. H. C. Hill of Martinez, to be laid up with one fractured and one sprained ankle. While endeavoring to master the steps of the Charleston, while a phonograph poured forth its tunes, Mrs. Hill came to grief in the first lesson. A physician was called and pronounced the injuries one sprained and one fractured ankle.

Blume Estate Is Valued at $15,600

Mrs. Angeline Blume, widow of Frank A. Blume, late San Pablo man, filed letters of administration in Martinez yesterday, showing that the estate of Blume is valued at $15,600. The estate consists of a home at San Pablo and a ranch at Concord. The petitioner is represented by Attorney Will S. Roberson.

A sufficient supply, and there is every indication it can, this hazard will be removed and it is probable thousands of dollars will be saved the state in paving costs, when the project is advertised for bids.

Laboratory to Pass Judgment

The six day test of the well reduced the water level but five feet, and as soon as pumping was discontinued the water rose to its original level of 92 feet. Out in the desert water is judged by its taste. This test the new well has passed with highest praises. It is clear, and cool and apparently free from alkali and other chemicals, which often make desert water almost undrinkable.

Samples have been shipped to the commission's testing laboratory at Sacramento for expert analysis after which the engineers will pass final judgment on the Sand Hill well and its availability as a water supply for paving operations.
